cribed to the right

causes. An incompetent Interpreter, an ignorant Mandarin, an overzealous through brave Commander, and instructions of too vague a nature—all these increased by the suspicious conduct of the victims. It has been resolved for a journal published in London, which claims to be particularly knowing on China matters to discover that the catastrophe occurred through the Government (i.e. the Governor and Legislative and Executive Councils) of Hongkong being at work in the interest of pirates! This assertion is not made sarcastically as implying that imperfect repressive measures afford facilities to pirates, but as a downright fact. We quote the paragraphs in which these gross charges are made, their intense absurdity fortunately removing any danger to which quotation might expose us. The first says—

Governor Robinson, after sitting for upwards of a year at the head of the Executive Council of Hongkong, on an inquiry into the Civil Service abuse, declared that her Majesty's ships had been in the habit of rendering their services to a certain set of pirates to destroy any other pirates who might prey on their own.

And the next—

Can it be pretended for one moment that the Government of Hongkong is dissociated, or that it has ever been, with the party or clique at whose instance her Majesty's pension was degraded in the manner indicated, to and condemned by Governor Robinson?

In plain language that the government is in the habit of rendering services to a certain "set of pirates!" This on the 14th August 1868.

We have not been backward in opposing various local public measures. We may at least claim the credit of being outspoken, and are not likely to be misunderstood in characterizing the above remarks as—well, worthy of the L. d. C. Herald. We might use more roundabout, but scarcely more expressive, language. We notice the assertion, simply because people unconnected with China might mistake silence for implied assent to an imputation with Sir R. Mac Donnell's strongest opponents would indignantly reject.

The Penang people have triumphed, at last, and their reasonable objections to being "left out in the cold" in regard to the P. & O. mail packets have prevailed. By a revised list, courteously forwarded by the Superintendent of the Company, we learn that the next outward mail of 22nd and 28th August will touch at that port, being due a Hongkong on the 8th, instead of the 7th October, as previously notified. The first homeward mail touching at Penang will be that leaving this on the 20th October. The general effect of the new arrangement popularly stated, is that our mails will in future leave a day earlier, i.e. on every other Thursday instead of every other Friday; and that they will arrive, or at least be due, a day later, i.e., on alternate Thursdays instead of Wednesdays. Although we should prefer present arrangements we can hardly grudge Penang the pleasure of regular mail communication.

LOCAL.

We observe that the mail steamer reports having passed a man-of-war in tow of a steamer in Lat. 15° 50' N., Long. 113° E. This is doubtless the Menace in tow of the Admiral, and their arrival may consequently be expected almost hourly.

It is said—and we believe that the information is to be relied on—that four or five of the tea clippers, with new season teas, arrived home on the 4th inst. This would give telegrams three days later than those published. The vessels are reported to be the Ariel, Sir Lancelot, Taiping, Spinifex, and Lohio in which case the Lahoo will have made the quickest passage.

THE "TIGRE" CASE.

This case, which was remanded by Mr May for the opinion of the Attorney General on the point of jurisdiction, was remanded to-day—Mr Pollard again appearing for the Messagers Imperiales and on behalf of the prisoners, instructed by Mr Caldwell, M. Bertrand and M. du Cheneast on the bench. Prisoners (Omar Choll and Marc Antoni) seamen of the Tigre, were again at the bar, charged with having cut and wounded, with intent to do some grievous bodily harm to, four seafarers of the said vessel. The Attorney General appeared for a few minutes.

Mr May observed that he had been approached by the Crown officers on the point of jurisdiction, and it had been thought that, as this was merely a preliminary investigation, and by no means a final proceeding, the case would assuredly be submitted to the Attorney General, this was not the proper time to consider the matter. He could therefore go on with the case as if he had full jurisdiction. Had the question been left entirely to himself, he would have had no hesitation in deciding the point of jurisdiction; but she only reason he remanded the case was that the French Court had applied to H. E. the Governor on the subject. He would therefore overrule the objections of the learned Q. C. and proceed with the case.

Mr Pollard begged to clearly understand his Worship. He did not mean to say that the case would then be finally decided, or that his (Mr P.'s) points would be lost sight of; he simply meant that this was not the proper time to consider the question.

His Worship replied that, of course, if these men were found guilty of what they are charged with, then the case would go to the Attorney General, and the Supreme Court would be the proper tribunal for the decision of the question of jurisdiction.

Mr Pollard then made an application to the effect, that his Worship would consider the quality of any acts on the part of the prisoners, judge them by the light of the French law, which was found in the Code Napoleon and Code Commercial.

His Worship replied that in a general way he would give all consideration to the tone of the law of France; but he could not promise to judge every act by French law before he knew the acts referred to,

and who must have now come from that port.

A report has reached us from Peru, that a vessel in the coasting trade, commanded by a Spanish Captain, and with a Chilean crew, had sailed from Callao some time previously with $15,000 in specie on board and some 60 or 70 of the Coolies lately arrived in the Provvidenza and Caravela Coasters, and had never arrived at her port of destination, or been heard of along the coast. It is not improbable that the crew of this vessel may have murdered their Captain, plundered the treasure, and gone off in the missing-boats, leaving the Coolies behind.

Another suggestion is that the vessel may be one of the North-German barques which left this port in the early part of this year for Callao, and some of which are believed to have taken a limited number of Coolies, from 50 to 100, according to size, when well out of British waters. There was a barque named the Bertha, a North-German craft, consigned to Messrs Grieves & Co., trading last year between Yokohama and Nagasaki, as appears from Shipping Lists. Can any one say where she is now, or what became of her? The ship's bill, marked Bertha, may afford some clue.

THE HOWLOONG CASE—INQUEST.

A Coroner's Inquest was held yesterday evening upon the body of Water G. Yancey, the gunner, who had died from injuries received in a night attack on his bungalow, on the morning of 18th instant. He died on Sunday night between eight and nine o'clock. The Jurors were—Messrs H. G. James, O. M. Kerr, and H. A. Loarie. James Forster, engineer, sworn deposes:

I have seen the body of deceased, and recognize it as that of Water G. Yancey, employed by the Union Dock Company, as a stoker. On Friday morning, between half-past one and two, we first heard an alarm, given by a girl and boy who lived in Yancey's house. "We heard them shouting, "Have got plenty piling toopside," and we thought this was only a row. Next, however, the watchman gave an alarm, saying, "Yancey have die." I then turned out, and went up and saw the body of deceased, lying at the bottom of the hill leading to his house. His head was lying in a pool of blood, and the sides of his head and face were shot; he had also some scalp wounds. I then went into his house, and found all the chairs and tables broken; his double-barrelled gun broken in two pieces. I picked up three Chinese torches. In his bungalow, his bed was broken down, the mosquito curtains being covered with blood, and a large quantity of blood on the floor. The bed-clothes were all soiled. The body was then carried to the blacksmith's shop. I then went for Dr Adams.—By the Court: The cutting near which deceased was lying is about 5 yards from the door of his house, and is about 6 feet high. Deceased was alive but insensible, when I first saw him under the cutting. About three hours after, when I heard deceased speak. He said, "When I am better I will tell you all about it, and I have fought like a 'brick.' Two men came into my room first."—By the foreman: Both doors were open, and the boudoir door bore marks resembling those of boarding-pikes or spears. Found nothing which would show that thieves had been attacking the house, except the three torches. His watch and chain, revolver, powder, flask, and shot-bag were gone. I live in the Company's Bungalow, which is about 500 yards from Yancey's bungalow. I have been told by Yancey of a flogging which he gave to a Chinaman for attempting to seduce his Chinese girl. He gave this Chinaman a sound thrashing, and left a scar on his head. A few days ago the Chinaman returned and asked Yancey if he might resume work at the Dock. Yancey said he might, if he could. Yancey said nothing of any threat. I would know that man if I saw him again. I understood that Yancey was a great favorite with the Hakan stone cutters. I have heard nothing of money matters.

In reply to the Court, Inspector Daly said that he had a clue to this carpenter.

Witness continued—I know that Yancey had $65 a few days before his attack, but can't say whether he had that money at the time.

The inquest was then adjourned till Monday, at 2.30 p.m., at the Magistracy.

THE "TIGRE" CASE.

This case, which was remanded by Mr May for the opinion of the Attorney General on the point of jurisdiction, was remanded to-day—Mr Pollard again appearing for the Messagers Imperiales and on behalf of the prisoners, instructed by Mr Caldwell, M. Bertrand and M. du Cheneast on the bench.

Prisoners (Omar Choll and Marc Antoni) seamen of the Tigre, were again at the bar, charged with having cut and wounded, with intent to do some grievous bodily harm to, four seafarers of the said vessel.

Mr Pollard then asked if the charge was not valid against the (black men) to go on shore to complain; but the Europeans were allowed to take arms while the captain was on deck, and saw them do so. I did not understand what the serang said.

Farrah (the other fireman who swam ashore) was next examined; but his statement was almost precisely the same as given by Ismail.

Mr Pollard here asked for an explanation of the fact that no witnesses were to be called except black men; and further asked who was the prosecutor.

His Worship said he fancied that Mr Creagh was conducting the prosecution; but that as Inspector Kirby had resigned somewhat at a disadvantage. Mr May then sent for the serang from the ship.

Mr Pollard then asked what the serang had done with the case; what charge had he to meet—an assault was what he came to defend the prisoners upon.

Mr May: Oh, no!

Mr Pollard further asserted that he was here to prove the innocence of the prisoners, and to show how the man Farrah came by his death.

His Worship remarked that there was no reason to use such strong language, which would not improve the case.

The learned counsel replied that no words were strong enough to stigmatize the whole proceeding from beginning to end.

The Magistrate said that there was a reasonable expectation of evidence being produced.

True, the police might have done more than they had done, but they had a reasonable belief that they would yet be able to do so.

If there were not such reasonable expectation, he was sure Mr Creagh would not say so;

if evidence was not produced, the prisoners would be discharged.

Mr Pollard said that was poor consolation.

His Worship repeated that any expression of harshness against the Police would not forward the case.

Mr Creagh here stated that he was informed that Abdoolah had pointed out one of the prisoners as the man who struck deceased; but on one of those constables (P. C. 23) being put into the box, he stated that he merely said "Abdoolah pointing with his finger at one of the prisoners."

Mr Pollard said that he might have been a friend of whom he wished to make his excuse.

This was a statement which showed the value of statements made by the Police.

Any man who came in and standing on his head, kicked up his heels before Mr Creagh, that officer would consider he had given sufficient information upon which to grant a warrant—that solemn act of depriving a man of his liberty; a man can't be deprived of his liberty in this way.

Mr Pollard said that there was a difficulty in the language spoken, of which there was then no interpreter; and the Police could not do impossibilities, and could not kick men from the dock. He had already said that he had determined to remand the prisoners.

Dr Cochran, who came into Court, was sworn, and stated that Abdoolah would be able to come to-morrow morning.

He had made a post mortem examination on the body of Farrah, and found that death had resulted from a fracture of the skull.

Mr Pollard said that the Police had got wedded to the idea that a black man would have caused the death of Farrah, because it was a black man who swam ashore and laid the blame on the serang.

The case was then remanded until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The adjourned inquest upon the body of Farrah, the Aden fireman on board the Tigre whose death is referred to above, was resumed at 2.30, immediately upon the conclusion of the above case. Jurors—Messrs J. Morgan, G. Peacock, and C. Muller. Mr Pollard, instructed by Mr Caldwell, appeared on behalf of the Messagers Imperiales.

Mr May: You have no reason to say so, Mr Pollard.

Mr Pollard repeated that it was not duty of the Bench to conduct the prosecution.

There were the whole of the officers of the Tigre to give the facts, instead of which only black witnesses were called.

His Worship observed that the learned counsel had no cause to impute partiality to the French Court, as he had been reminded by the learned counsel.

Mr Pollard then made an application to the effect, that his Worship would consider the quality of any acts on the part of the prisoners, judge them by the light of the French law, which was found in the Code Napoleon and Code Commercial.

His Worship replied that in a general way he would give all consideration to the tone of the law of France; but he could not promise to judge every act by French

Rivington," or the name of a Company trading under a title which does not consist of the names of the persons composing it, such as "Carron Co." is inadmissible.

6.—The Remitter on stating that the Order is to be paid only through a Bank, to have the option of giving or withdrawing the name of the Payee; in such case, the Order will be crossed in the same way that Cheques are commonly crossed; when they are intended to be paid through a Bank.

10.—In the event of a Money Order miscarrying or being lost, a duplicate will be granted on a written application from the Payee, containing the necessary particulars, and accompanied by an additional Commission to the Office where the Original Order was payable.

11.—On the receipt of a similar application, orders will be given to stop payment of a Money Order, or to renew a lapsed Order. The additional Commission in the last case will be deducted from the amount of the new Order. Lapsed Orders must be presented with the application for a new Order.

12.—But when it is desired that any error in the name of the Remitter or Payee should be corrected or that the amount of a Money Order should be repaid to the Remitter, and that a Lapsed Order should be renewed for payment in the Country in which the Order was originally drawn, application must be made to the Chief Money Order Office of such Country. This application must be accompanied by an additional Commission, unless it have reference to a Lapsed Order, in which case the Commission will be deducted from the amount of the new Order.

13.—Repayment whether of an original, or renewed, or a duplicate Order, will not be made to the remitter until it has been ascertained that the advice has been cancelled at the Office on which the Order was originally drawn.

14.—Payment of an Order must be obtained before the end of the Sixth Calendar Month after that in which it was drawn; for instance, if drawn in January, payment must be obtained before the end of July, otherwise the Order will become lapsed, and a new Order (for which a second Commission, to be deducted from the amount of the Order, will be charged) will become necessary.

15.—If an Order is not paid before the end of the Twelfth Calendar Month after that in which it was drawn,—for instance, if drawn in January and not paid before the end of the following January—all claim to the Money will be forfeited, unless, under peculiar circumstances, the Post Office of the Country in which the Order was drawn think proper to allow it.

16.—After once paying a Money Order by whomsoever presented, the paying Office will not be liable to any further claim. If a wrong payment, however, be made owing to negligence on the part of any Officer of the Post Office, the Postmaster General of the Country or Colony in which the negligence occurs will, if he see fit, require the Officer in fault to make good the loss.

17.—No Money Order will be paid unless the advice has been previously received.

18.—Additional Rules for greater security against fraud, and for the better working of the system generally will be made as occasion may require.

19.—Should it appear that Money Orders are used by mercantile men, or others, either in the United Kingdom or at Hongkong, Shanghai, or Yokohama, for the transmission of large sums of money, the British or Colonial Post Office, as the case may be, will consider the propriety of increasing the Commission, and will exercise the power of wholly suspending for a time the issue of Money Orders.
